I have had the DTR67320T for just over four months now. £134 from Argos, with a free £10 voucher (used to buy a manual HDMI switcher, which became a necessity!). Did quite a bit of prevaricating and research before purchasing (it's my first DTR), the research including QVC! (It is, after all, a good way of seeing the machine in action - just mentally filter out any over-simplification and ...

I've even done a manual search where i've selected channel 41 (I think) to try and get the MUX C channels which has also failed. As well as that i've also noticed that the ariel from the world which is split into the back of the toshiba tv and now the sagem box can be "flimsy". Basically if I start to move the ariel lead behind the sagem box then the picture goes all "blocky" and the sound ...
