series 'The Victorian Kitchen Garden' , presented by Peter Thoday and Harry Dodson, went behind the high redbrick walls of Chilton Foliat in Berkshire to follow the restoration of a traditional kitchen garden. Retired head gardener Harry Dodson painstakingly transformed the weed-choked ground into an efficient and productive plot, cultivated with the use of Victorian tools and techniques and planted with 19th century varieties of flowers, fruit and vegetables.

The Victorian kitchen . We often think the invention of the electric refrigerator was the most marvelous thing about modern kitchens, but we should really marvel at the invention of the stove. Before the stove cooking was done over an open fire, the temperature and speed of cooking controlled by raising the pot higher or lower above the flames.

school in Munich. It is 1938 and the trappings of Nazi power are all around her. She meets and falls in love with Friedrich, an ardent member of the Hitler Youth. Despite Sally's warnings about the ugly incidents they witness, it is only when she gets back to England and is accused of being pro German that Lily realises how naïve she has been. But she still desperately loves Friedrich. When war breaks out, Friedrich's knowledge of England gets him assigned to a small espionage unit sent to blow up a munitions factory. The mission fails and he is captured. His known association with Lily brings her to the attention of the authorities. She is arrested and questioned as a suspected spy. She is able to prove her innocence, but Friedrich is sent to a POW camp, vowing to hunt down those who betrayed him. Lily is released and takes a job as a lorry driver at a brick works. Her relationship with Friedrich makes her useful to MI5. She is recruited as a double agent and is sent to London on an assignment, where she experiences a bombing raid and is set up as a pawn in a plot to trap a spy. As recognition of her participation she is allowed to visit Friedrich but finds

Most conventional gardening books concentrate on how and when to carry out horticultural tasks such as pruning, seed sowing and taking cuttings. This book is unique in explaining in straightforward terms some of the science that underlies these practices. It is principally a book of 'Why' - Why are plants green? Why should one cut beneath a leaf node when taking cuttings? Why do plants need so much water? But it also goes on to deal with the 'How', providing rationale behind the practical advice. The coverage is wide-ranging and comprehensive and includes
